VOL. 6; NO. 28 LEMON GROVE, CALIFORNIA MARCH 4, 1954 10c Per Copy

The Mason LINE

by Chan Mason

If you get a chance grab a copy of George Casteel's little brochure entitled, "My First Quarter Century in Lemon Grove." Nice little write-up of the Town's growth George has seen in the past 25 years.

We wish men like George and Tony Sonka would give us more of the early history of L. G. Makes for interesting listening.

Ed Fletcher and Roscoe Porter give interesting talks on early S. D. History, but not too much is known about Lemon Grove. How about it, you guys?

—ML—

A good many local business men might be surprised by lowered insurance rates in they'd ask Fire Chief Hensley for a fire inspection. It's free, boys, and a suggestion or two might be of real value to you.

—ML—

We goofed. Pulled a terrible boo boo by not giving local Camp Fire Girls any credit for their really fine work in the recent Polio Campaign. They helped in the collection of over $200.00 in the baloon sale.

So to Mrs. Dudley and her girls, a belated thanks.

—ML—

Hats off; To Mrs. Bengston and her L. G. Elementary school Glee Club.

To Principal Benton Hart of Helix who stayed by his guns and finally was instrumental in forming a new Athletic League. We will hear more of this later.

—ML—

We wonder, now that the political campaigns are approaching, what the boys are going to use for name-calling. They've used 'em all up all ready.

It's old hat, boys. Here's one vote you won't get by using such tactics and we don't care what party you think you represent.

—ML—

So help me Kate if my nine year old son didn't come home with one of those 'Scared Stiff' haircuts the other day. Can't complain I guess, at least he hasn't tried to emulate the tonsorial artistry of the 'Seminole' yet.

—ML—

What's this packaged ordinance deal the County Planning Commission is proposing? Jackson Ammons has some very definite opinions on the subject and wouldn't it be advisable for all of us to learn just what it's all about?

We think this is one our C. of C. could do well to hash over.

—ML—

We caught 'em in the act again. Sneakin' in another little survey along Imperial Ave. We'll betcha that the Cal. Tech. Campus with all of its thousands of engineering students was never surveyed as much as North Imperial Ave.

—ML—

With all the talk of Smog—what's that bluish-black stuff that rolls up from the County Dump near the Paradise Air Strip?

Vista La Mesa P-TA Exec Board Meets

Vista La Mesa P-TA executive board meeting was held Feb. 29 in the home of Mrs. Wallace R. Simms, 3889 Massachusetts. Mrs. Simms and Mrs. R. C. Alexander were co-hostesses for the the evening.

Hundred Prizes For Piggly Wiggly Opening

Prizes, including a 21" television and a complete Easter outfit for some lucky lady, will be among the hundreds of gifts distributed this week and next in connection with the re-opening of the Lemon Grove Piggly Wiggly store.

A thousand orchids will be given Friday and like number will be distributed Saturday. A two week program of entertainment will be offered to attract shoppers to the store's modernized exterior and interior. Specially priced merchandise according to Clarence Milbrodt, local manager, will attract hundreds of shoppers.

A new facade and a completely revamped interior will greet shoppers who attend the celebration this week.

D. D. Williams, firm's president, supervised the project.

Durham Heads L. G. Cancer Organization

Jack Durham, Lemon Grove insuranceman, last week accepted chairmanship of the Lemon Grove committee of the San Diego County Cancer Society and named Mrs. James Martin and Mrs. Mack Curl as committee members.

Purpose of this committee is to act as a liaison group between the San Diego office and Lemon Grove organizations and clubs to further the educational program set up by the Society.

It is the aim of this committee to make it possible for the Cancer Society to send a representative speaker to every organized group in the Grove so that the material gathered by doctors in the study of cancer will be introduced to every home in the community.

Interested parties can obtain detailed information by calling Mr. Durham at HO 6-3103.

New Set-Up For L. G. Dept. Store

A change in the operational structure of the Lemon Grove Department Store was announced this week by Dick Paden, vice-president and manager.

The firm, formerly a partnership between Paden and Ralph Clark, has been changed to a corporation. Clark sold his interest to Ernest and Gerald Mather, father and son.

In the new set-up E. Mather is president, Paden is vice-president, G. Mather is 2nd vice-president and Mrs. E. Mather has been named secretary-treasurer.

The firm will follow the same general policy, according to Paden but will expand its scope; new nationally advertised merchandise will be stocked, popular prices and friendly service will prevail.

San Miguel Chapter No. 579 O.E.S. will hold a junior matron and patron night Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Friendship Hall.

Past Matron Arvella Henderson and Past Patron G. Spencer Bunch Jr. will preside for the opening.

WARBURTON GETS P-TA HONOR

Tom Warburton, vice-principal of Helix High School, is presented the P-TA life membership award. Warburton's wife, Marion, attaches the pin to his coat lapel while Mrs. Glen Crosby, chairman of the committee, reads the citation.

Lemon Grove Housewife Compares Food Costs

"Yep. They total up all right."

Bert Betts, Lemon Grove's certified public accountant, checks over the tapes of the groceries bought by Mary Curl who did the shopping chore for the Review.

Mrs. Curl took an identical list to five of San Diego's leading grocers to attempt to ascertain what impact Big Ace would have on the shopping habits of Lemon Grove residents.

Because Big Ace has not yet come to Lemon Grove, the study was made with San Diego markets only.

LENOX FOTO

The table top living of Lemon Grove residents is about to be changed.

The coming of the Big Ace is reportedly responsible for many changes in the food market business here. For example, Piggly-Wiggly has completely redecorated, revamped and put a new front on their shop, the Lemon Grove Shopping Center has put up a new facade and increased their floor area, the Hammerstein Market has enlarged and changed the name to the Broadway Market and increased its operation to include meats as well as produce and groceries, while rumors are stirring that Davis Market will increase its floor area by building an addition.

All this is a battle of physical parts of grocery marketing. These elements are parts of a plan to keep customers coming and to increase patronage. But Mrs. Lemon Grove is interested in one thing primarily: how much does it cost to feed the family every week.

The Review examined this problem objectively but in two parts. First it sent its shopper to five San Diego markets with an identical list, the result of which is printed herewith. The other part was a discussion with the cause of this grocery furor, a talk with Jim Banister, president of the Big Ace which will open this month in Lemon Grove.

Mr. Banister had several things to say about the impact his operation is expected to have on Lemon Grove's cost of living. Mr. Banister said that the prices of groceries in his market would be competitive and perhaps run a little lower than most markets but a savings would be experienced mostly in the distribution of stamps.

He said that all large markets feature week-end markdown specials to attract thrifty shoppers.

These markdowns represent a reduction of about 5% in price. These items ordinarily cost about $500 per year per family. Approximately $25, or 5% of $500, is the greatest amount the shopper could hope to save in one year shopping from market to market.

The average special week-end shopper, he says, will average purchasing 8 to 10 items weekly that are special but since the shopper is saving only 1 to 5c per item, percentage-wise his saving is not great.

"Only the human desire to get something they think is a "bargain" makes people shop around," says Banister.

Last month Mrs. Curl shopped at five markets outside of Lemon Grove but included the Big Ace and this is the identical list she purchased.

Del Monte Catsup, Nucoa, Challenge Butter, Libby 46 oz. Tom. Juice, Birdseye Froz. Peas, Skippy Dog Fd., Carnation Milk, Campbells Tom. Soup, Log Cabin 12 oz. Syrup, Salt, Blk. Pepper 4 oz., Jello, Purex, Tide lrg., Cokes 6 pk., Soda Crackers, Scott T. Tissue, Cinch Cake Mix, Cigarettes.

On display in the Lemon Grove office are five tapes which were checked by a certified public accountant, Bert Betts, to qualify the totals and he says they are correct.

For these items the bill at Safeway totaled $17.19, at the Food Basket the totol was $16.78, at Big Ace in Pacific Beach the total was $16.17 and at A & P the total was $16.96 and at Mayfair the tape totaled $17.72.

Some of the observations turned in by Mrs. Curl follows: sizes vary greatly, for example, size 300 and size 303 can of peas may look the same but are priced 2c different because of weight difference.

She observed that merchants with huge stocks of a particular brand on hand usually was priced a little lower than the grocer with a limited supply.

Unknown qualities offer a variation, for example, the celery looks the same as local but is generally about 7c a lb. higher making Northern celery higher in price. Loose bananas generally sell for less than banded bananas and No. 1 White Rose potatoes usually sell for more than the utility grades and so on down the line. She found that there are seven grades of meat being sold dependent on government graded quality. Steaks appear to be just steaks but a commercial grade will be about 8 to 15c a pound less than U. S. choice. Quality varies so greatly that there's practically no way to make a real exact evaluation.

Mrs. Curl's recommendation: Choose one market in which you enjoy shopping and buy all of your groceries there. While various items will vary in price from shop to shop and from time to time, the switch back and forth and the make-up difference on the regular priced items will absorb the savings.

Cafetorium Opens In New All-Purpose Building

On Monday of this week the new cafeteria - auditorium on School Lane was opened to students of both the Lemon Grove Junior High and the Golden Avenue School. An attractive all-purpose building, it will seat from 450-500 as a cafeteria, and approximately 600 to 650 as an auditorium.

Mrs. Janet Andrews, manager of the new cafeteria, began serving lunches to the large student body at noon, March 1. The school lunch program, which has become an important part of the educational program everywhere, provides a substantial, well-balanced meal for twenty-five cents. This includes a half pint of milk, two ounces of meat or protein, six ounces of vegetable or fruit, serving of bread or muffins, two teaspoons butter or margarine, and dessert.

The money paid for students' lunches covers only the cost of food and its preparation. With the state and federal governments furnishing some free surplus foods and a cash subsidy of four cents on each lunch, the children receive a few cent value for the money.

Review Columnist Reproduced in L. A. Times

Chan Mason, columnist for the Lemon Grove Review, this week attracted attention as far north as Los Angeles. As a matter of fact, part of his column was reproduced in last week's Los Angeles Times.

The paragraph picked up from a recent "Mason Line" column was reproduced in a column titled "Home Town Flavor." It said "Now that summer is here, what happened to spring? Broke out our fishing tackle the other day before I realized it's a long time yet before opening of trout season."

Congratulations, Chan, anything for the Saturday Evening Post?

School Board to Hear Citizens Committee Progress

The report on the formation of the citizens' advisory committee for schools will be listed on the Board of Trustees' agenda next Monday evening, 7:30, when the regular March meeting is held at the Lemon Grove School District offices on Acacia St.

Other items of business will include a review of preliminary plans of the proposed projects, which are the new classrooms; a consideration of maintenance and grounds upkeep work; a report on the recent trip by S. K. Solleder, assistant superintendent to recruit new teachers for the district for next fall; and an analysis of the current budget.

Parents and other school patrons of the community are encouraged to attend the meetings of the board.

The Dixon LINE

Flash! from our Washington D. C. correspondent exclusive to the Lemon Grove Review.

Emperor Joseph has now taken over command of the Pentagon. President Eisenhower had a wonderful vacation at Palm Springs. This is about as close as we have been to a chief executive, but then we thought far back when we were on the depot at Stockton, California, when the train bearing the body of Warren G. Harding from San Francisco to Washington D. C. passed through.

What has happened to our projected Freeway? All excitement has died down and now we are in a period of inactivity. How long, O Lord? How long?

—o—

The minister had preached an unusually long and tiresome sermon. At the end he announced there would be a meeting of the Board following the close of the service. At this meeting a stranger walked in and was told by the minister that this was a meeting of the Board. The intruder remarked that he was in the right place because after listening to the sermon he was the outstanding one of the Bored.

—o—

We are not favorably inclined to the prevalent house-to-house solicitation. Last week one man came selling Bibles. (We have two—one King James version, and the other Standard Revised. We much prefer the King James version.) The next caller was promoting space in a Mausoleum Motel. We didn't appreciate the close proximity. Now we are prepared for the Friendly Undertaker. Who knows!

—o—

What happened to the right-of-way parking on the San Diego Short Line on which the Chamber of Commerce was non-committal? Now is the time to do something before some commercial interests move in.

DIMMER VIEW

By MAX GOODWIN

Lest anyone unfamiliar with the mutable facets of my editorial personality feel that I cannot shed sweetness & light, where need for such is indicated, let them attend today's class of Dr. Goodwin's saccharin attitude toward tax-spending governmental agencies.

I had out my brassie and was ready to tee off on the the State of California Department of Employment and the miserable treatment they give poor wretches who, because of indigence or because they are actually and honestly unemployed, find a need for asking back some of the dough they had laid on the line to the State of California for just such eventualities.

I was getting ready to tell of the high-handed attitude of the Department's subordinates; the supercilious air of the clerks once the poor, unemployed wretch gets a chance to spill his woes, and of the regular brush-off and third degree each applicant gets. But William A. Burkett, director of California Department of Employment, spoiled my plan.

In a report sent personally to me last week, for which I credit him with psychic powers as well as good business acumen, he changed me from a complaining antagonist to a complimentary disciple.

In his three page report in which he says, "this paper, printing and postage paid for by William A Burkett" he tells of more progress made in the Department of Employment during the past 90 days than has been made since I have been aware of its existence.

In his report, he admits abjectively, that one-fourth of all the insurance claims paid during the six month period prior to November 15, 1953, were fraudulent and improper. This amounted to 20 million dollars plus delinquent employer taxes of 5½ million and of mistaken over-payments to claimants amounting to more than three quarters of a million dollars. The department's administrative funds, he admits, were so depleted that there were no job placement activities at all.

Burkett claims that after six weeks of taking office he started a program of reorganization and over a million dollars of "nice but not necessary" functions were ended which included sending much of the "brass" back to jobs of serving the public.

A partial list of items Mr. Burkett points to with pride, which bugs my eyes in this day and age of government department self perpetuation are these:

1. Reduced a $48,000 a year public relations staff to a single employee.
2. Cut $60,000 a year from Department travel.
3. Changed to a calendar week for benefits to save $200,000 a year.
4. Reinstated the California Employment Stabilization Commission as an advisory body.
5. Ordered departmental em-

YOU BE THE JUDGE

HOMESTEADS

A homestead is a form of home ownership designed to protect against loss because of financial troubles. For example, suppose you fail to pay a debt. Your creditor might be able to go into court, and have your home sold to pay his claim.

To give people security, within limits, your home can be exempt from creditor's claims. Remember, the exemption is not automatic. You must claim the exemption under the homestead law before your creditors reach it.

To homstead your place, you fill out a "declaration of homestead," and record it with the county recorder.

The law limits the amount to which a home is exempt from creditor's claims. It would not be fair, say, for a $30,000 home to be fully exempt.

So, the law exempts a man and wife's home only up to $12,500; and a single person's home up to $5,000, unless he is supporting one of several close relatives.

If the property is worth more, a creditor can reach what is left over. If it can be divided easily, only such parts will be sold as are needed to pay the debts. If possible, the home will be kept intact. The owner will get the value of the exemption, and the creditor, the rest up to the value of his debt.

The person who declares a homestead must live on the place.

The homestead may be selected from a couple's community or separate property. Either man or wife can have it homesteaded.

Married homesteaders must join to transfer property to someone else. You can end the homestead by conveying the property or "abandoning" it. You can abandon the homestead only by filing a "declaration of abandonment" with the county recorder.

When a man or wife dies, the homestead passes to the other spouse at once. The property cannot be sold to pay off unpaid debts.

NOTE: The State Bar of California offers this column for your information so that you may know more about how to act under our laws.

ttracts Mrs. Gray to DavisHonesty at Check Stand A

Most every Lemon Grove shopper knows Carolyn Gray, 2136 Dayton Drive in Monterey Heights. She is one of the pleasant clerks for Lindley's Owl Drug Store.

Carolyn knows good and efficient service and good prices of merchandise when she sees them, that's why she shops regularly at David Food Center.

"There are things that attract me to a market more than anything," Carolyn said. "Honesty in merchandising and honesty at the check-out stand are musts for me. I wish I could say that honesty is found at all markets, but that is not so."

Mrs. Gray, with her husband, Leslie, has lived in Monterey Heights for six years. He is a driver for the Sunbeam Bakery which supplies bake goods to quality food markets such as Davis.

"I have been shopping in and about the Lemon Grove area for six years and I can think of more nice things about Davis Market than anywhere I have shopped. I like, for example, the new check-out stands they have. They seem to get the shopper through in about half the time. I am like everyone else about their produce department. I just can't resist it because it is so big, attractive and fresh looking."

The Grays have two daughters, Linda, aged 9, above, and Nancy, aged 13. The Grays buy everything for their table from this market, they say.

Davis has a parking area located on three of the main streets of Lemon Grove with entrances and exits on Main, Broadway and Olive St. The market is open every day, including Sunday. ADV.

State Income Tax To Hit $100 Million

The Franchise Tax Board reported that an anticipated 2,900,000 state income tax returns will be filed during 1954 producing $100,000,000 in revenue to the state.

Because of the anticipated increase of 500,000 more returns than last year it is important that persons requiring assistance in the preparation of their returns contact the Income Tax Division at the earliest possible date.

Returns for 1953 are required from all single persons whose net income was $2,000 or more and all married couples whose combined net income was $3,500 or more. Individuals who qualify as the Head of a Household must file if their net income was $2,000 or more.

Important differences exist between the State and Federal Income Tax Laws, and the Franchise Tax Board offers free assistance to all taxpayers at the permanent offices listed on the 1953 instructions, the board director said.

John Gigliotti, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Gigliotti, was at home last week on a ten-day leave from Camp Ord and is now on his way to a new assignment at Camp Gorder, Georgia.

After only two months in the service John was selected as one of six men to attend Provost Marshal General School at Camp Corder and has been assigned as an acting squadron leader.

Dr. and Mrs. Gigliotti were the recipients of a highly complimentary letter from General McClure of Camp Ord in which he reported the spectacular work John has done during his short term of service and his remarkable capabilities as an Army man.

Sgt. Curry Home On Surprise Visit

It was quite a surprise for Mrs. Ann Curry, 8261 Golden Ave., last Wednesday when her son, Sergeant Robert H. Curry, came home for a surprise visit.

Sgt. Curry has been in Korea for 18 months on his second tour of duty. He was with the 25th (Tropic Lightning) Division serving with them the second time. He was with the 25th in 1950 on his first tour.

He took part in some of the bitterest Korean fighting and was involved in the November 1950 march up the Yalu River. He was one of the few in his company to survive but he was badly wounded.

He returned to the States and later volunteered to go back. He now has two Purple Hearts, a combat infantry medal, U. N. medal, Bronze Star, good conduct and two Presidential Unit Citations and the Syngman Rhee Presidential Citation and the Paratrooper's Jump Wings.

Sgt. Curry will report to Camp Stoneman March 25th for reassignment.

RED CROSS NOTES

By CHARLES GURLEY
Public Information Chairman

By the time this article appears the Red Cross Membership and Fund drive will be over so far as calling on local residents goes but to those who were missed at their homes, there is but one chance left.

"We hope," said Mrs. Joseph H. Woody, Co-chairman, "that any who desire to give anything to this wonderful cause will take their contribution, however small to the tables at the Post Office or the Bank where Miss Marie Massey and Miss Charlotte Nicholson are in charge. These tables will be there Thursday, Friday and Saturday, after the regular calls at the homes have finished."

"At this time," added Mrs. Lee Jordan, Chairman of this drive, "We wish to thank all the good people of Lemon Grove for what we are certain will be their most generous contributions."

The regular March meeting of the Red Cross branch of Lemon Grove will be held at the Woman's Club house at 10:00 o'clock on Tuesday the 9th and a large attendance is expected, particularly of all the ladies who are interested in the sewing project.

"Mrs. Castigilla has accepted the responsibility" said Mrs. G. R. Roberts, chairman, "and will be on hand and helpful in any way. We now have a sewing machine and this work will proceed much faster."

Seed Detectives Wanted by State Employment

California is looking for a few more seed detectives to help protect farmers against expensive crop failures.

Officially known as seed analysts, these state employees systematically sample seeds on the California market. They issue "stop-sale" orders against substandard offerings.

The analysts also are alert to noxious weed seeds mixed in commercial lots.

Beginning jobs as seed analysts at $310 and $358 are open to college graduates in botany, agronomy or truck crops. Seed analysis experience may be substituted for education. There is a higher level job, paying $341 to $415, for more experienced men and women.

Applications must be made before March 26 for civil service examinations for state seed analyst jobs. Apply California Department of Employment on Columbia St.

Any organization wishing to remain exempt from payment of California franchise taxes must under a new law passed at the last legislative session file a loyalty declaration prior to March 15, 1954.

The Franchise Tax Board issued this caution today in order to remind all previously tax-exempt corporations that, under Chapter 1503 adopted by the legislature pursuant to a constitutional amendment approved by the people at the last general election, failure to file the loyalty affidavit will result in the loss of their exemption.

Free Shows to Mark Fire Prevention Week Scheduled to Start Monday, March 15

School fire captains man the equipment to be used in a public display of modern firefighting techniques Friday, March 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the new school cafetorium on School Lane. The public is invited and the show is free.

"Fire Power," a North Island Naval Air Station fire presentation in which spectacular blazes are brought under control will make up part of the program.

A page of supporting material by local business firms will direct attention to the event in next week's issue of the REVIEW.

LENOX FOTO for the REVIEW

Two fire fighting shows, one indoors and one outdoors will be held during Fire Prevention Week which is scheduled nationwide March 15 to 20.

An indoor show in Lemon Grove will be held at the new Lemon Grove Cafetorium according to Fire Chief Harold Hensley.

Chief of State Fire Prevention M. R. Smith has granted permission to Captain W. F. Rodee, commandant of North Island Air Station, to present his famous "Fire Power" show at the Lemon Grove school structure Friday, March 19 at 7:30 p.m. The show is free and the public is invited.

Chief Smith will show how a conflagration can destroy by using miniatures of service stations and ships at sea.

The outdoor demonstration will be Monday, March 15 on the grounds opposite the fire station at 7:30 p.m. School fire chiefs will participate in this one according to Engineer Harry Alexander. Effect of water on petroleum fire will be shown. Lee Birch, Junior High Chief, said that a picture of what would happen if water were poured on a skillet of burning grease would be demonstrated. Water, he indicated, would not douse the fire, it would only spread it.

Pat Towmey, St. John's, and Guy Hunter, Golden Avenue, believe that a check list for the home should be distributed by the schools and be made available to home owners by the merchants of Lemon Grove. This list should point out the dangerous fire hazards that exist in all homes, was suggested by Chief James Whitmeyer of Monterey Heights. Arrangements to comply with these suggestions will be made, according to Captain Joseph White, of the Fire Department.

Fire Chief Hensley commended Junior Chiefs Larry Yost, San Miguel, and Darrel Adams, of Vista La Mesa for the effectiveness of the Fire Drills at their respective schools. According to Michael Caldiron, school advisor of the Junior Fire Patrol, each of the six elementary schools have achieved almost perfect records.

Cooperation of every businessman in the community seemed to be assured to make Fire Prevention Week successful according to the statement of one of the prominent ones. Kenny Hall, operator of Hall's Service Station, stated that the National Board of Fire Underwriters says 903 million dollars was lost last year by fire, which is 15% higher than 1952. "If we can prevent fires in Lemon Grove, we can reduce our fire rate aside from saving lives which is most important. Insurance rate reductions will effect all of us," Hall said.

Captain Ray Cormody, who recently attended a state fire prevention meeting with Engineer James Sanchez, said that fire waste could have reached far greater proportions had it not been for campaigns of this type to educate the public. Sanchez said that you can point out the communities that have neglected this program by the higher fire rates.

"I've just figured out why my hair grows so long so quickly," reported Bob Sutton, principal of San Miguel School. "It's because my brain is so fertile."

Helix Students to Try for $3,500 Scholarship

Students from Helix, Grossmont and Coronado High Schools will take part in the Ninth Annual Public Speaking contest sponsored by the Knights of Pythias, Friday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre at Helix High School.

According to Harry A. Thayer of Santa Barbara, state chairman of Knights of Pythias, judging will be done on an eleven minute speech, titled "Courteous Motor Manners and How to Promote Them."

Winner of this contest will go to Oceanside to compete for district honors and six students will be awarded scholarships totaling $3,500 at the finals to be held next August at Des Moines, Iowa, according to Mr. Thayer.

This contest is free and the public is invited to attend.

Cole to Move His Cabinet Shop

"They're breaking up the old gang," is the plaint of Al Cole who operates the Cole Cabinet Shop on Olive Street behind the present post-office. The landlord is demolishing the building.

The shop is moving to Broadway and West where Cole bought a plot of ground 108 feet facing on the main stem. He plans to erect a 36x60 building there starting this week.

If he knows what will go on the address he's vacating, he's not telling.

For Shady Spots Plant Cineraria

Cinerarias are a natural resident of dense shade areas and do well under the conditions that cause most gardeners to despair. Indeed, with proper care, Cineraria plants can be grown as a perennial with almost a steady succession of bloom in any of these troublesome shade spots. Stellata Cineraria, in Lemon Grove, will continue to occupy the same spot year after year with little care or bother other than nominal weeding and spraying. Need for fertilization is seldom found. White fly, aphids and leaf miner are the three principal pests to be controlled.

Summer weather is rough on the general appearance of a planting of Cineraria and good gardening practice is to bloom them during the months of October to June. Nearly three months of springtime growing is required to bring Cinerarias into bloom, so it is wise to set out transplants as soon as possible, to get the best result.

Cinerarias bloom in reds, blues and purples. Some solid colors are available, but the mixtures are most readily on top and give the gayest effect. Varieties usually available are the dwarf plants, giant flowers (grandiflora nana), the dwarf plants with small flowers (multiflora nana) and the tall growing self-seeding Stellata type. While the grandiflora nana is the most popular, the multiflora strains have a showier flower head and the Stellata serves well as a background planting.

Good companion plant material for a Cineraria planting is Arabis, Dwarf Begonia, dwarf Campanula, Primula Malacoides, P. Polyanthus, P. Obonica and Auricula or Mimulus for edging. Interspaced planting of Columbine, tall Fibrous Begonia or Tuberous Begonia are possible. Background material should be of shrubbery with Fuchsias as one good choice. Foxglove and Canterbury Bell also would fit into such a background planting.

Lemon Grove Ladies Invited to Participate In Sewing Contst

DEL MAR—Women from Lemon Grove and surrounding communities who take pride in their sewing prowess are invited to enter a "save with cotton bags" sewing contest sponsored by the Southern California Exposition and San Diego County Fair combined in cooperation with the National Cotton Council of America, Lorene Bohn, supervisors of entries, said today.

Held for the first time last year when Mrs. Gladys Traverso, San Ysidro, won a Pfaff portable sewing machine, this special feature of the Home Economics department has been enlarged for this summer's Exposition, Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, in charge of this department, said.

Competition is open in eight sections including a pair of curtains, blouse, stuffed toy, pajamas, luncheon cloth or place mats with napkins, quilt, and mother and daughter dress set.

Sweepstakes prize again will be a sewing machine to be awarded to the person winning the highest total of cash prizes in this division. First, second and third-place winners in each section will receive certificates entitling them to the credit of $50, $25 and $10, respectively, towards the purchase of a sewing machine or cabinet.

Entries of the sweepstakes winner will be forwarded to Chicago for final judging to select an international cotton bag sewing queen. The queen and two runners up will receive all-expense paid, week-long trips to Chicago, plus gifts valued at more than $2000.

Judging will be on originality, workmanship and appearance. All entries must be made entirely from cotton feed, flour, fertilizer, or sugar bags with the exception of trimmings such as rick-rack, braid, tapes, ribbons and buttons. Deadline for filing entries is June 21, Mrs. Hanson said.

Margaret Burnett Replaces Goodwin on Grossmont Committee

Max Goodwin, publisher of the Lemon Grove Review, resigned last week as chairman of the School Sites and Population Trends Committee of the Grossmont High School Citizen's Advisory Committee.

Margaret Burnett, a member of the committee since its formation and well known school authority who has been active in school affairs in the area for many years, was named to replace Goodwin.

Mrs. Burnett has been working closely with the former chairman and none of the projects will suffer because of the change in chairmanship, it is believed.

Counties Seek Social Workers

Social workers are needed to help administer the state's $325,000,000 public assistance program, the Merit System Examining Agency announced yesterday.

Examinations for Social Worker I and Social Work II will be held April 10, 1954, in 30 cities throughout the state as close to the residence of candidates as possible. Candidates will have the opportunity at that time to specify the county or counties where they will accept employment. Entrance requirements for Social Worker I are three years of undergraduate college work in any field or three years of responsible public or business experience. Social work experience or graduate training in social work is qualifying for Social Worker II. Beginning monthly salaries for Social Worker I range from $220 to $265, and for Social Worker II, from $235 to $292.

Applications may be obtained from your Department of Employment on Columbia St.

ployees to hold "staff meetings and training courses" in the Department buildings instead of in RESORT areas.

6. Shortened Department correspondence and eliminated official gobbledygook.

7. Ordered 5½ million dollars in delinquent employer taxes and $850,000 in overpayments to claimants to be collected.

8. Study of adequacy of the present weekly benefits.

9. Gave organized labor, for the first time, equal membership with management on the Department's committees.

10. Ordered non-discriminating job placement.

11. Ordered priority to veterans.

12. Cancelled unsavory mass lectures and ordered more individual interview time to be given to claimants. Ordered prompt payment of claims with minimum of red tape.

13. Increased emphasis on job placement.

14. Prosecuted 468 violations of the Unemployment Insurance Act or 2½ times the number in the same three month period the previous year.

15. Classified sixty-nine administrators as "brass" and put them to work. A savings in their salaries provides additional 80 employees. $300,000 per year is gained by re-assignments.

16. Ordered offices open at 8 instead of 8:30. Citizens have been forced to wait outside until 8:30 although the staff was on duty and paid from 8 a.m. This half hour of actual work will produce $50,000 worth of time per year.

17. Simplifying claims-taking methods which are presently burdensome. A streamline method will reduce current work loads equivalent to an additional 80 persons which would amount to $300,000 more per year.

18. Ordered a statewide campaign for honest, courteous and efficient treatment of the public.

Now that's one of the most ambitious programs I have ever seen emanating from a governmental department, and if Bill Burkett backs up this program with action he should be destined to become one of our present day political greats.

If he doesn't he should be publicly denounced for building up our hopes and for encouraging this public display of our naivety.

For better or for worse, Bill Burkett, we wish you luck.

Prior to the opening of the cafeteria, the students attended special classes and films on health habits and nutrition, and special stress is being placed upon good grooming and manners.

The spacious building will be available for use by community groups. Those desiring to use it should contact the principal at the junior high for application, and this application will then be presented to the Board of Trustees to be cleared. Because of an anticipated heavy schedule, applications should be made well in advance.

School Panel Tells of Professional Advantages For Teachers

Education majors from the junior class at San Diego State College were informed of the advantages of and obligations to education professional associations when officers of the San Diego County and City Teachers Associations met with the class on Tuesday, March 2, at the Campus School Auditorium.

Gordon Shields, president of the County association and teacher at Grossmont High School, introduced the panel of speakers and emphasized the role of the county club. Peg Darroch, Lemon Grove teacher and county vice-president, talked to the future teachers on the benefits derived from local teachers clubs. The state and national associations were described with charts and slides by Ralph Taylor of the County Schools Office. The workings of various committees within the groups were explained by teachers from the city association.

Last semester this same group of officers addressed members of the senior class who majored in education.

Civil Defense Notes

Charles Gurley HO 6-3745

The Lemon Grove Fire Commission is most anxious that people of this community, during this fire prevention week, visit their fire station and see for themselves what Chief Hensley and his men have done and are doing in their behalf, was the statement made yesterday by Chan Mason, Fire Commissioner for Lemon Grove.

"To the business people, I hope," said Mason, "that if and when a fireman calls on his tour of inspection, he will receive courteous treatment and your hearty cooperation."

"Any householder who desires his premises inspected and will request a fireman to call" added Fire Chief Hensley, "a courteous fireman will call and make such an inspection. We are not permitted by law to make such inspections uninvited."

When asked if he needed more volunteers, the Chief said, "We can always use more volunteers on Civil Defense work, send me all you can for that work."
